SUMMARY

Ussuriysk Army Barracks West is located on the west and southwest edge of Ussuriysk (Figure 1). One possible small-arms firing range is located on the west side of the installation between 2 fenced storage areas. A possibly associated training area is located approximately 20 kilometers (km) west.

The installation covers approximately 750 acres and contains 520 buildings, including 19 administration buildings, 41 administration/barracks, 74 barracks, 181 general storage and support buildings, 11 support buildings, 34 vehicle/equipment maintenance and storage buildings, 12 possible shipping/receiving buildings, and 96 possible non-military billeting and support buildings (Figures 2 and 3). A separate administrative area which probably functions as a hospital compound contains 12 probable hospital buildings and 40 support and storage buildings. A probable industrial site is included in the acreage estimate, but not in the building count. Scattered throughout the complex are an undetermined number of small buildings of unknown function which are not included on Figure 3. The apparent intermingling of civilian and military activity at this installation precludes a determination of the exact extent of military activity. This appears to be a logistics installation at probable Army or Corps level.

The installation has been covered by KEY-
HOLE missions of interpretable quality, and has undergone no apparent change since initial coverage in [REDACTED]
